Several designs from Abet Laminati's unique and diverse range of high pressure laminates are being used nationwide on a new interior concept for Mecca Bingo.

The new scheme embraces several different collections from the Abet comprehensive range of high pressure laminates including HR LAQ, Metalprint, Legni woodgrain and Serie Metalli, which have been installed extensively front of house and in the washrooms and back room areas.

In the restaurant, the Legni range of woodgrains is designed to give the warmth and appearance of real wood but with the benefits of strength and durability associated with high pressure laminate. The consistency in appearance and quality from sheet to sheet ensures that the laminate has a uniform look throughout.

The design story throughout is characterised by graceful sloping arms and softened angles, with style options embracing plain, diamond-buttoned or fluted backs.

Each model in the Lugano range can be upholstered in either fabric or hide to suit customer requirements. To complement the upholstery, six standard show wood finishes are available – cherry, wenge, mahogany, oak, beech or walnut – supported by a polish matching service to meet specific needs.
